

When Trevor Scott White got to CBA, the football program was coming off one of the best years in recent history. Although they lost in the sectional championship game in 1993, CBA hall of fame coach Paul Ciciarelli had brought the program back to its' rightful place at the top of the Central New York football scene. In fact, it was a newspaper article about one of CBA's players, Tim Brunson, that peaked the interest Trevor's father. He wanted his son to be able to benefit from the academic and athletic opportunities that CBA had to offer. There was some discussion, but as has happened to many of us through the years, the father convinced his son that the trip to Randall Road was correct path for him to take. And as is usually the case, the father proved to be correct... but what he didn't know was that over the next four years his son would etch his name in the CBA Athletic record books

Trevor was a gifted athlete. During the spring season he joined Jason Meany on the outdoor track team and formed a potent one two punch on the oval. A sprinter who was lightning fast, Trevor was pushed to train hard by other football trackmen such as Jamie Thornton and Darius Marshall. By his junior year, he became one of the top sprinters in the area. In fact in the 1998 season he set a school record in the 100m with a time of 10.7 seconds and in the 200 at 22.7. That year the team went undefeated and won the Sectional Championship with Trevor dominating the short distances winning the 100m, 200m, and anchoring the champion 400 m relay team. He would go on to the state meet where he would place second in the 200. In his senior year he continued to lead the team in the sprints, again qualifying for the state meet. This time, although the event changed to the 100 meters.the result was the same. Trevor finished 4 hundredths of a second behind the state champion. That agonizing loss fueled his desire to win a state championship. So in the last race of his high school career, he had one last shot at a state title. He anchored the 400 meter relay team of EJ Jackson, Elijah Huling and HT Williams and in a time of 43.94 seconds, he would finish his high school track career by winning a state championship A fitting end to a great career.....Not bad for his second sport

You see, football was Trevor's first love. He had played the game for years in youth leagues and was considered a very gifted player. When he came to CBA he not only looked forward to the opportunity to play, but was poised to excel. And he did just that. He was a four year varsity football letterman, even making a slight contribution during his freshman season. As a sophomore he became the full time starter and immediately began to make a name for himself. In leading the team to an 8 – 2 record, Trevor scored twelve touchdowns and rushed for 1275 yards, nice career numbers for some players, but only a glimpse of things to come for him... In 1997, the Brothers seemed to finally have all the pieces in place, Trevor as a weapon on the ground, quarterback Dave Paulus , who had a great arm and a propensity for making exciting plays..Bryan Sacco, a sure handed receiver, who like his father Jay, was a stalwart on the line and Karl Berger who anchored the defense were ready to make a run at the school's first sectional title,.. They rolled through the regular season and earned the sectional championship, in fact the team was an extra point away, check that, a few inches on an extra point away from a state championship ...And Trevor again came through. That year he scored 25 touchdowns and ran for 1800 yards. In his senior season, because of the teams' success, our program was moved up a class to compete against better competition. The team accepted the challenge and another league and Sectional Championship came the Brothers way. That season Trevor scored 21 touchdowns and gained 1776 yards....When it was all over the accolades came pouring in... and why not, in his four year, his team compiled a 39 – 5 record, won three league championships and 2 sectional championships. Trevor scored 60 touchdowns and rushed for 5031 yards, good for sixth place in state history at the time. He was named all league three times, First team all state in both his junior and senior year. He was also named the CNY player of the year in 1998. It was no surprise that the offers came pouring in, but, as Orrie Scarminch did three decades earlier, Trevor chose Boston College to continue his athletic and academic career.

As an Eagle, Trevor was used mostly on the defensive side of the ball. During his 4 year career he played in all but one of the BC's games during that time.. He started all games his junior and senior years making over 120 tackles , Including 6 tackles, a caused fumble and a quarterback hurry that led to an interception for touchdown when the Eagles bested then undefeated and #4 ranked Notre Dame in the Green Jersey game his senior year. He helped lead the Eagles to bowl appearances in his each of his last two years and was recognized as an All big East player in 2002.

Trevor, you had a tremendous career and proudly represented CBA on the field and in the Community. Now to show that we are proud of you, we welcome you into the LaSallian Athletic Hall of Fame
